

For Immediate Release

PACIFIC NORTHWEST AEROSPACE ALLIANCE NAMES LISA CHILDS AS DIRECTOR OF OPERATIONS

We are thrilled to announce the promotion of Lisa Childs to Director of Operations for the Pacific Northwest Aerospace Alliance (PNAA) effective April 6th, 2022.

Lisa joined PNAA almost 13 years ago and has advanced through progressively more responsible positions where she most recently played a prominent role in the organization as our Events Manager. She has proven herself to be a great leader throughout her time and dedication to PNAA. She has been an integral part of the success of PNAA throughout the years and we are pleased that she has accepted this director role.

Our mission is to support the global competitiveness of the PNW Aerospace Cluster and creating the Director of Operations role is part of our goal to provide even more focus on the needs of the local aerospace manufacturing community.

Please join me in congratulating her on this well-deserved promotion.

About the Pacific Northwest Aerospace Alliance:

Pacific Northwest Aerospace Alliance is a non-profit organization made up of a coalition of aerospace companies that serve North America's largest commercial aerospace manufacturing cluster which centers around growing segments in the Pacific Northwest. Member companies range from commercial aviation to satellite manufacturing. With members and affiliates around the world, PNAA strengthens the manufacturing supply chain through dynamic events designed to inform aerospace leaders, connect aerospace interests, and inspire industry collaboration and innovation.

Nikki Malcom

CEO & Executive Director

Pacific Northwest Aerospace Alliance

425-885-0290 / www.pnaa.net / contact@pnaa.net