

5 REASONS TO EXHIBIT AT THE PNAA ADVANCE 2023 CONFERENCE

1. Meet and connect with prospective customers and partners

With over 600 attendees expected, you'll have the opportunity to meet with key executives, engineers, business development professionals, and entrepreneurs from all over the world. If your company is looking to expand its reach in the aerospace industry, this is the perfect event for you.

2. Strengthen (or establish) your brand

Trade shows are one of the only environments where you can meet with prospective customers on an equal playing field as your larger competition. This makes them a valuable opportunity not just for direct sales and marketing, but also to strengthen your brand position within its industry leader groupings!

3. You'll Gain Valuable Insights into the Industry

In addition to exhibiting your products and services, you'll also have access to conference sessions led by experts in the aerospace industry. These sessions will cover technology advancements, supply chain priorities and methods for overcoming the challenges your company is faced with. You'll come away from the conference with a better understanding of the trends shaping the aerospace industry and how your company can capitalize on them.

4. You'll Make Lasting Business Connections

The PNAA ADVANCE 2023 Conference is a great place to network with other aerospace professionals. You never know who you might meet at the conference and what opportunities might arise from those connections. Exhibiting at the conference is a great way to grow your business's network and create lasting relationships.

5. Deepen your connection with the Aerospace Community

By joining this regional aerospace conference, you have the opportunity to deepen your connection with the other members of the community. It is a great chance to get useful feedback on your products and services. Technology has made it easy to write off face-to-face meetings, but they are still a critical element to creating a community. Exhibiting can help you solidify your presence in the regional aerospace community. Attendees will also have the ability to access your information in the app after the event, so your investment doesn't end when the conference ends.

22nd Annual Aerospace Conference

PNAA ADVANCE | 2023
INNOVATE • COLLABORATE • ACCELERATE

#ADVANCE2023